Easter Week at PB UMC

In our prayerful journey through the season of Lent, we have been exploring what we might give up during this season. We do this not only in remembrance of Jesus' forty days in the wilderness, but also to prepare ourselves for the celebration of Easter.

On Sunday, April 9, we will celebrate worship and the penultimate sermon in our sermon series on what lasting and harmful things we can give up from our lives. This message will focus on Jesus' traditional procession into Jerusalem before the Passover holiday. As always, our worship services will begin at 9:00 am and at 10:30 am.

Good Friday falls on April 14, and the church will be open from 5:00 pm to 7:30 pm for an exploration of the meaning of Good Friday for each of us as unique persons of faith. Suitable for persons of all ages and abilities, stations of interactive prayer and learning will be available for participants at an individual pace.

On Easter Sunday, April 16, those who are willing to greet the beginning of the new day – experienced by some as a resurrection moment – will gather at Crown Point Park on Mission Bay for a sunrise service beginning at 6:00 am. See our website, www.pbumc.org, for more information and directions.

Back at 1561 Thomas Ave, the social hall will open for our annual pancake breakfast at 7:30 am. Serving will continue until 10:00 am. Easter worship services will take place in the sanctuary as usual at 9:00 am and 10:30 am. The Easter Egg Hunt for children will begin in the courtyard at 10:00 am.

Easter is a celebration of hope and new life. All are welcome to join in thoughtful reflection, prayer, community, worship, and celebration.

Padres Faith & Family Night

Join your PB UMC faith community at a San Diego Padres game at Petco Park on Saturday, April 22, 2017, at 5:40 pm. PB UMC will join other faith communities from around Southern California for Padres Faith & Family Night, an evening designed specifically with churches in mind. Attendees will also receive a Padres hoodie! The evening will conclude with post-game Q&A, testimony from Padres players, and a post-game concert by Christian artist Matthew West.

We expect tickets to cost $35 (depending on availability and number of sign-ups). If you are interested in attending with your PB UMC family, contact Amy & Rod B. or Ralph S. Don't miss an opportunity for fellowship and fun with the San Diego Padres!

Pastor Bob's Printed Blog

Dear friends...

As we move into the month of April (and as my dad would say), Spring has sprung! The famous San Diego weather has returned, and the sun warms us, free of clouds and rain. Fresh blooms are appearing, and the lemon tree (bush) in our back yard is producing in excess.

It reminds me of something we've talked about recently: resurrection moments. This month, we will celebrate Easter – a resurrection moment surely in the ministry of the Nazarene carpenter, and surely a resurrection celebration for us all as we move from the introspective wilderness of Lent and into the Easter season.

As we have discussed, resurrection moments can absolutely be singular unrepeatable moments, and they can also be smaller and yet equally profound moments. I hope over the course of these explorations that you have considered these moments in your own lives.

Very recently, several people have shared resurrection moments with me. This was especially prevalent and profound a couple of weeks ago when we hosted The Iowa State Singers in worship as they pre-viewed the concert they would offer that afternoon. The worship service that day continued our sermon series on ways we can think about "giving up" some elements of our lives during the Lenten season and beyond, and the particular focus was on giving up superiority. Following the service, several Iowa choir members approached me.

One: "I'm not religious, but this service really moved me."

Another: "I've never felt so loved."

Another: "I had about given up on Christianity. Today's service makes me rethink."

And several hours later, after an afternoon concert: "People are still talking about the worship service and what it has meant. Thank you."

(Note: those of you who follow me on social media have seen these quotes.)

I was moved. In fact, I was moved to tears. It is incredible to be part of a worship community that embodies such welcome and grace and love. It is moving to be part of a worship community that has such an impact on people who have been present in this place for a single worship service. And it is an incredible privilege to be your pastor, to journey with you and alongside you, to learn with you and from you.

Much of what is affirmed in the worshipping community of PB UMC is that this is a place that is authentic. This is a place that is real. This is a community that doesn't try to be something it's not. This is a community that is unabashedly and unashamedly motivated by love.

I feel this great sense of possibility here at Pacific Beach UMC. I feel the energy and movement of the Spirit. And I hope you do too. It is exciting to be here and to experience worship and the spirit of connection that is alive each time we gather together.

I ask of you, I implore you, to continue to be authentic and real in the ways that you participate in your faith life and in the ways that you share your faith life. It's hard for people to find a community that is truly about love and not about an agenda. It's hard for people to find a community where they can exist and where they can participate knowing all of their failures and flaws because the rest of the community has flaws too.

As we continue to name our failures and flaws so that we might grow in our expression of God's love, we will be beginning a new sermon series on April 30th based on the Adam Hamilton book Half Truths. During this series, we will explore some of the things Christians often say that – upon examination – may do more harm than good. Examples of some of these phrases are: Everything happens for a reason. God won't give you more than you can handle. Love the sinner, hate the sin.

Let us continue to be a community of authenticity and resurrection. May we continue to receive and share the love of God in Jesus Christ.

Ladies Evening Out

The April Ladies' get-together will be Saturday, April 22, 2017 at 5:00 pm. We'll gather at Studio Diner, 4701 Ruffin Rd, San Diego, CA 92123 (Kearny Mesa).

On a TV studio lot, this spot serves up American classics amid 1940s-era movie décor. It is a fun little diner. If you've never been there, you have to go! It is a bit further east than some of our other get togethers, but still central enough for most. We'll have an early dinner and, if there is a movie some of us want to see, we can go to that, too!

For more information, contact Dart, dartr@pbumc.org.

Reflections from the Finance Team

Income is below budget. Though we budget evenly each month, income and expenses occur less evenly. For example, we receive an annual draw from the Stone and Altenburg legacies in January, while the larger draws from the Sabatka and Prewitt legacies are taken quarterly in March, June, September, and December. For this reason, the Finance Team is waiting another month or two before drawing conclusions about how realistic the 2017 budget is.

As we go to press, we are finalizing the books for 2016. Thanks to $1450 from the Christmas offering plus various other transactions, our preliminary 2016 loss of ($39,292) is reduced to ($37,477).

April Communion Offering:

This month's special Communion Offering will support scholarships for two of the most profound ministries available to our children and youth. Youth summer camps and Sierra Service Project (SSP) are specific environments tailored to the spiritual formation of persons at critical points in their faith journeys.

Summer camps are developed and implemented by the California-Pacific Annual Conference and staffed by local church volunteers. At age-level camps, a scripture-based curriculum is the framework through which faithful leaders work to guide children and youth into a lifelong exploration of faith and experiences of God in Jesus Christ.

Sierra Service Project is a Christian non-profit organization that works with Middle School and High School youth to experience the power of serving people with a culture and background different from their own.

Meet One Of Our Voices Of Praise: Sandy S.-R.

By Roving Reporter Marcia M.

I recently met with Sandy and really enjoyed getting to know her. I hope you do, too.

Sandy moved to San Diego from McMinnville, Oregon, about two years ago and she started looking for a church to join. She lives in Pacific Beach and tried local churches. She joined the choir at one of these churches. She told me, "I grew up loving church music, but I found the music at that church not to be energizing . . . One Sunday I was taking a walk and heard some wonderful music. I realized it was coming from a church. I decided to try this church, which was PB UMC. I came back the next Sunday and started attending regularly. The church grew on me. At first I sat in the back. Then I ushered for a while. I wanted to join the choir, and I finally did, and have been very happy ever since."

I asked Sandy about the choir. She responded, "I love the choir, the music, and the people. Most people want to perform; I just enjoy being surrounded by people who can sing so well while praising God."

She told me what PB UMC means to her, "I like all the opportunities. I love helping on Wednesday nights. The church has a good heart. I enjoy women's get togethers. Without the church, I probably wouldn't still be in San Diego. I have good days and bad days at work, but never have a bad church day."

She told me, "I work at Point Loma Nazarene University. I am the director of the office of global studies. Primarily we try to encourage students to study abroad. I like my work as an international educator."

The photo with this article was from a business trip in South Africa. "I was visiting Stellenbosth University." In addition to South Africa, Sandy has gone to China, Cuba, and Japan this past year. On some of these trips she is honored for her work.

Sandy closed our conversation with "I appreciate all the people I have met at PB UMC, and the resulting new friendships." We certainly appreciate Sandy.
